Explanation of Prototype:

Famous female writers from pantheon 2.0 dataset was analyzed and connected to Best Book Ever Data Set. We used different tools plottly, python, excel and wix (a website platform) to analyze the data. Analysis of the data presented in the website <https://meikethijsen.wixsite.com/femalewriters>. The connected data set of above stated data basis are also available on website.

The platform is made interactive. Different charts and graphs from our analysis are presented in the Website along with historical events. One can hover over the website easily. Initially, we presented the famous books by famous female writers. Then, we discussed about the famous female writers throughout the history in the world. Then, we try to analysis the questions i) male vs female writers in the history ii) best books sold per year split on gender iii) comparison of average popularity index of female and male writers etc.
